

On March 23rd and 24th, 2009 the 18th Annual African Aviation MRO Conference and Exhibition was held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. It was hosted by the African Aviation Magazine President, Mr. Nick Fadugba.

AGS' Chairman and President, Mr. Kassa Maru was invited as a guest speaker on the subject of "optimizing aircraft spares procurement and inventory management" which was received very well by the African Airlines' executives who were the major participants.

AGS staff attended this prestigious conference and displayed its products and services in the reception hall of the Addis Sheraton where the conference was held. AGS took the opportunity to meet with several African Airlines higher management staff which will further enhance the business relationship and cooperation between AGS and African Airlines.

The African Aviation Magazine published an introductory article on AGS' services and its contribution to the development of African Aviation.
