

American General Supplies, Inc.

December 2008

To: ALL AGS CUSTOMERS

Subject: Announcement from the Desk of AGS Chairman of the Board.

It gives me great pleasure to welcome and introduce Mr. Sanjeev Nookooloo who just joined American General Supplies, Inc. as Vice President, International Sales (Asia and Far East). In this capacity he will be responsible for the Indian Region, Far East and some Regions of Africa.

Sanjeev began his career 21 years ago with a humble start as an Aircraft Maintenance Engineer (AME) and developed his experience in Aviation significantly. He also developed his educational background and now holds an MBA Degree.

Sanjeev served at Air Mauritius as Head of the Procurement Section and directed the Provisioning Department in a managerial capacity. He later joined an aircraft leasing company where he served as Vice President Technical Services. His duties and responsibilities in the various positions at the different reputed organizations were Asset Management, Aircraft Financing, Software Development, Integration, and Management of Maintenance, Engineering and Planning.

As can be seen above, Sanjeev's Educational and Professional background, superimposed by his experience will undoubtedly make him suitable and advantageous to provide high standard services to our valued customers. His long service in aviation has taken him to most parts of the world, particularly in Europe, Asia and Africa. He speaks English, French fluently and conversational Hindi.

As soon as he completes his induction and orientation at AGS and its subsidiaries, Sanjeev will start travelling to the regions assigned to him and we solicit the support that you have given his predecessors.

Sanjeev is married and has two children.

We are excited about Sanjeev's joining the AGS family and wish him all the best with his new responsibilities.

Thank you for your continued business and interest in AGS.

Best regards,

Kassa Maru
Chairman of the Board and President
